

The Times – Friday, 3 September 2010

Roberto Forzoni

An article last year (Evans relishes his Davis Cup debut but knows success will be tall order, September 18, 2009), suggested that Roberto Forzoni, at that time the Sports Psychology Services Manager at the Lawn Tennis Association (LTA), was leaving the LTA because the players had lost confidence in him. We understand, and accept, that this suggestion was incorrect and that Mr Forzoni left the LTA by mutual consent. The players had not lost confidence in him; on the contrary, since leaving the LTA, Mr Forzoni has continued to work with a number of top British players. We apologise to Mr Forzoni for any distress caused by our article.