

Liam Gallagher: An apology

In an article published on 22 July 2009 about the Oasis iTunes gig at the Roundhouse on 21 July 2009, the BBC News website wrongly suggested that Liam Gallagher stormed off stage for almost half an hour, disrupting the performance.

We accept that the suggestion in the article that the performance was interrupted was wrong and that Liam only briefly left the stage whilst his brother sang Waiting For The Rapture and Master Plan as, we are informed, is normal during their performance.

Liam afterwards returned to the stage to continue the rest of the set.

We apologise to Mr Gallagher and have agreed to pay his legal costs of bringing a complaint.

Sorry from BBC NEWS.
